

Housing Standards Debate

How will the removal of the Code for Sustainable Homes affect the delivery of sustainable housing development?

Ashley Bateson,
Chair of the Homes for the Future Group
Partner, Hoare Lea

4th Dec. 2014

Speakers

1. Simon Brown, Department for Communities and Local Government
2. Martin Townsend, Head of Sustainability, BRE
3. Richard Hodgkinson, Managing Director, Hodgkinson Consultancy
4. Tom Dollard, Head of Sustainability, PTE Architects

Housing Standards Review (2013 consultation)

Department for Communities and Local Government

Housing Standards Review

Consultation

GOV.UK

Search

Departments Topics Worldwide How government works Get involved
Policies Publications Consultations Statistics Announcements

Policy paper

Building regulations: housing standards review

Organisation: Department for Communities and Local Government
Page history: Published 14 March 2014
Policies: Improving the energy efficiency of buildings and using planning to protect the environment and + 1 other
Applies to: England

Note supporting the written ministerial statement on the housing standards review.

Document

Building regulations
PDF, 12.6MB, 2 pages
This file may not be suitable for users of assistive technology. Request a different format.

Detail

This note supports the written ministerial statement made on 13 March 2014. The note sets out how government intends to proceed with each of the standards examined in the Housing standards review consultation.

Published: 14 March 2014

Organisation: Department for Communities and Local Government

Policies: Improving the energy efficiency of buildings and using planning to protect the environment
Providing effective building regulations so that new and altered buildings are safe, accessible and efficient

Is there anything wrong with this page?

In August 2013 the UK Government consulted on its intention to replace a variety of standards (including the Code for Sustainable Homes) with national standards.

The main aims of the review are to:

- simplify the number of standards that planning authorities apply to new homes
- reduce the burden on new housing developments

CIBSE
Homes for the Future Group

Thank-you

Any Questions?

ashleybateson@hoarelea.com